I have a one of theabela's prestige rods (7'6" 4wt) from a couple years ago. I got it as a gift and I love it.

I'm also a bit inexperienced, but I really like it for casting dries. Casting buggers or anything with more weight is a bit of a challenge for me, but I gather that's just the way it is.

That being said, I recently got a TFO 8' 4wt which can handle the bigger flies better without sacrificing much if anything (as far as i can tell) with the smaller flies. I also find it a lot easier to roll cast.
