

---

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Lackawanna River

Re: Lackawanna River

Author: : FlyGuyFromPa

Date: : 2012/12/23 16:33:48

URL:

I live right by where the Heritage Trail starts in the Archbald. I fished that section pretty heavy this spring and came up short. I was very new to fly fishing at the time. I caught a few smaller ones, but so it's been a better Winter spot than Spring. I'm always up for a good day of fishing. If you ever venture out this way and don't mind some company shoot me a pm and I'll gear up, pending my schedule lightens up. I don't have what some would call "proper" equipment, so I can't really hit the deep pools well. I have a 4 year old pair of hip boots that I wear. That green stuff people use to buy things is very sparse in my house and has been for a few years. I only wish I got involved in this sport when I was working. My job closing it's doors forever really hurt me.