

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Opening Day 2007

Re: Opening Day 2007

Author: : Padraic

Date: : 2006/9/22 11:30:51

URL:

Tomgamber,

As I understand it (and it's the reason I am not more upset), is that the staggered Opener will make the most of the available manpower and trucks.

The SE portion of the state is warmer earlier than the rest of the state, and can be stocked sooner. The trucks could then be freed up to stock other areas. I hadn't heard that patrols would be affected, although it does stand to reason. So anyway, it will help reduce costs for the FBC and I can support that reason. I still think it's going to have an impact on landowner relations with at least "some" landowners. I don't know enough to guess how much.

Padraic