If, as stated, he OWNS the land on both sides of the stream AND the streambed itself, then you have NO right to be on it or in it. only an idiot would trespass and then complain about being scared by the owners dog. I mean, are you listening to yourself? It's HIS property, he DOESN'T have to let anyone have access. AND, if you are indeed on HIS property and spray his dogs, don't be surprised if he sprays back with something a little more potent.

of course, you will then come back here and whine about having buckshot in your ass and how your waders now leak.
