I was just gonna suggest that to you, Swattie. I'm hoping that Thursday I can knock off around 3-4pm. Usually on Thursdays I'm out of here by 4:15pm. We can be rollin into Potato City by 8:30!

For room and board, as I said in the beginning, I will be opening up my cabin for the crew this year. Its in Potato City, not far from Potter County Family Campground, where some stayed last year. It was a great group of guys last year, and now that I've met most of you, I'm very comfortable opening up my camp. We usually ask for $5 per night from guests of members, which goes in our general fund and helps pay the utilities and other expenses of the cabin throughout the year. This is hardly rigid though. We're laid back like that.

There are beds for 8 (16 if you want to have bed buddies...no thanks!), 3 sofas, ample floor space for sleeping bags, etc. and plenty of room out back if anyone wants to pitch a tent.

As Wetfly said, we'll talk about food and stuff. We have a big old flat top stove from a diner that we can use to cook big ole' community meals and stuff. We'll get into that later.
