Caught three fish today on the Manada between Furnace Rd and the Mountain Rd (443?) bridge. The closer I got to Mountain Rd the better the fishing got. Not much activity or many fish at the Furnace Rd area. Air temp was in the mid to high 30's. Water temp was 36 degrees at 2 pm. The water was clear and running at a normal flow rate.

If I had it to do over I would have parked at the upper end and walked down 300 yards and then started fishing upstream.

I fished wooly buggers for hours with no luck. The size 16 Pheasant Tail (no bead head) caught all three fish. Two were nice sized. Make sure you get down on the bottom with this fly and you should have good results as well.
