Made my way over to Spring Creek mid-day in the Canyon section. I was up taking my daughter back to PSU and jumped out for a few hours.

Weather was cloudy and about 37 degrees. Lost my thermometer so all I can say was the water was cold. A little bit of snow from the previous week was still on the ground nice to see. Saw no insects.

I threw a bunch of streamers with no luck, then went to some nymphs and walts worms. Only saw three other anglers. Very quiet out there today.

Nice day and glad to get out.
