Whew. I was going to tell hookedonthefly that if he couldn't find Fat Nancys he could ask at Whitaker's. I figured they were easier to find since they're so close to the exit when you're going north on 81.

Becker - everyone knows PA raccoons are not native. They are a mix of stocked and wild. Most stocked ones are harvested in the spring or die off when the weather gets too warm. The wild ones were introduced from a strain that originated in Germany and can successfully reproduce when conditions are right..
