I just loaded a new data update that should bring your phone apps fully up-to-date for 2013. You'll notice that all stream names now have a number at the beginning of the name followed by a dash.

"2-Penns Creek" for instance indicates that this navigation point is on section 2 of Penns Creek. You can now search for specific stream sections referenced in the PFBC's stocking list.

For now, if you choose "Early Season Trout Stocked Waters" from the Special Regulations listings, you will get an error message. That is because the PFBC has eliminated this program so there are no longer any destinations under that regulation.

As mentioned in previous postings, I will be releasing a major app update well before opening day. This update will resolve the "Early Season..." issue and add many new features but I wanted to make the current data available to you as soon as possible.

For those with the GPS Fishing Guide for Garmin, I should have the 2013 FREE UPDATE available by the end of this coming week if not sooner.

I will post the link on this thread for you to update your Garmin units as soon as the update is available.
