Good thread and I am going to start using buggers a lil more often. This weekend I used them for the majority of my fishing. Couple of questions ..

1) When casting across, tighten/swing, and strip ... do you want your bugger to be on the floor or in the middle? What do you guys prefer?

2) When it swings and ends directly downstream from you and you strip ... doesn't the just the sight of you (or me) going to spook the fish even if you are fairly still and quiet below the H2O?

I also had a lil difficult time adjusting to a heavier fly then I am accustomed too
