Yeah, the easiest way to reach the upper DHALO limit on Manada legally is to park somewhere along 443 and hike the stream/stream bank up. It's not a long walk, half mile or less. I'm not certain, but I don't think you can fish above Fogarty Rd., similar to how you can't fish above the co-op hatchery on Indiantown Run (also on Gap property). At the very least I think you need a special permit from the Gap.

FWIW, the stretch from where Manada makes that right hand turn away from 443 and up toward Fogarty Rd. is kind of poor fishing IMO. I remember it as basically being a long, straight shallow riffle for the most part. The habitat is better in the lower section of the DHALO where it cuts through the mountain.
