I've been doing the polyester socks and 100% wool sock over top like Jack syas for over 25 years or more while duck hunting, standing in freazing water is a pain with cold feet. I've been out in -10<sup>o</sup> weather and with a good pair of boots and wearing socks this way has worked.

But the one thing I would like to add is what I do on top of all of this is change my socks before I put my boots on. I do this because after driving in a nice warm truck for an hour or so my feet get moisture on them and if I just stick my foot in my boots like this my feet will get cold no matter what I have on my feet.
