I watched the movie "A River runs through it" again tonight (I guess I've seen it a dozen times?). I wanted to get my love of fly fishing back again! I've been stuck (backsliding) with my UL spin for the crappie that bite in cold water? I have put my Helios down for the Satanic pleasure of NanoFil and Gulp Minnows! God help me?

The end credits say "thanks Orvis for the expertise and equipment" - nice Orvis bamboo rods in the flick..... and the reels look like a old Medalist?

"I am haunted by the water" "Everything becomes one, and a river runs through it"

That's exactly what I needed! I'm back in love with fly fishing again! I'll tie some good flies tonight?

PS - Brad Pitt is a pretty good fly caster? and I'll have to make a trip to Montana this year? if I can't afford it, well..... Muddy Creek will be fine?
