sneakers are just as good imho.

i have simms flats boots that i use.

I have to disagree. No way IMO are sneakers or saltwater flats boots as good as a pair of wading boots. Big difference between them and my Simm's Guide boots with Vibram soles and star cleats.

sorry, i should have qualified that - for rubber or felt wading boots i think they are.

just my .02 but what i lose in cleats grip, i gain in flex. i wouldn't wear my flats boots on flat rock but anything else is fine (i have some cleats for jetties) but i also find most cleated boots way too heavy.

i'm 42 now and my balance sucks so having a flexible sole is a necessity for me if i'm not to go A over T.
