What size street shoes do you wear?

There's lots of deals out there on clearance gear. Trying to squeeze a neoprene stocking foot into a boot that fits with just a hiking sock probably won't work too well.

Depending on what size you need, I've found some boots for under $25 - not much more than a pair of felt replacement soles.

IMO, even the cheapest wading boots will work out better for you than trying to rig a pair of old hiking boots.

Also, if we know your shoe size, maybe someone can offer up a pair of free used boots. Worth a shot...
