

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : From the minnow chaser thread - An ethics lesson

Re: From the minnow chaser thread - An ethics lesson

Author: : TimMurphy

Date: : 2013/1/20 14:42:14

URL:

Dear Board,

Got ya talking which was my goal.

To clarify, I don't care if a 5" brookie is sexually mature, 5 years old, and has spawned thousands of progeny. If you have little to no chance of catching a legal sized brook trout in the stream you are fishing and you continue to fish it, YOU ARE UNETHICAL!

You can rationalize your choice to continue to fish the stream however you see fit. However, make no mistake that while you may be a master of rationalization you're clearly lacking in the ability to make an ethical decision.

Carry on defending yourselves, it's amusing to me.

Regards,

Tim Murphy 😊