

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Maryland locations

Re: Maryland locations

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2013/1/20 14:54:06

URL:

There are a couple trout streams, both stocked and wild, in that area. They're generally not very well known although a bit further north will put you in the vicinity of the upper Patuxent which has a special reg section and wild browns. Frankly, down around DC is a trout desert and a much better warm water game. The tidal Potomac has world class bass fishing although it's mostly a boat fishery. If you have your heart set on trout fishing, you'd be better off IMO to head a bit further north into Frederick County or out toward Shenandoah National Park.