Yeah thanks becker and Tiger trout for the thoughts on the lenght. I am used to using a 9' total lenght leader. I was going to play around with the butt section while on the stream to find a decent length to match the size of stream I am fishing. I made it a tad longer than what i thought i should use and modify it for the stream. Contemplating setting up different leaders for different streams and marking them with masking tape.

Thanks again for the thoughts.
