The locals don't really fish it, or at least don't talk about it. I can say that I have not caught a newly stocked fish there, they live happily ever after in their own little world. I've taken to calling it the land of the lost and I've never seen another fly fisher, just the very occasional bait bomber. I think thats all I'm gonna say here, now over a coupla adult beverages things could get interesting. That was me you talked to at the jam Mr. Picket Pin, as a matter of fact just talking about it is kinda getting me worked up.
