I've fallen in love with it like few other streams. Many (and I mean many) times I've gone there and got skunked or just one or two to hand knowing full well I could've caught many fish somewhere else. Only to do the same thing the very next day.

Shes a bitch of a stream, but I always did like taming shrews. When you finally get them to love you, its the best of love.

Patience, observance, and most of all stealth. If they see you, its over. For the better fish anyway and most of the small ones.

Big BWO's right around the corner.
