No worries Beck. Can be up to the individual team obviously as to whether we do or it not, assuming the mods are cool with it. Although I didn't want cost to be the limiting factor for anyone who otherwise might help us have a strong showing, I was more coming at it from the angle of just a show of support from the forum regulars.

No offense to the rookies here, but I agree with Becker that while it would be nice for a rookie to tag along with a veteran, I'd like to see two more experienced guys/gals go here. Even if I had the availability to go, given my skill set I would probably defer to two of the bigger water/bigger fish regulars.
