Urggg .. been communicating w/ Ed b/ I was looking forward to this and my sons Bday party was scheduled for that day. Wife was really cool when i told her how badly I want to head up and tried to move it to Sunday but we are having a problem with one of the vendors. We are trying to move it to later in the day. Hope it works out b/ there are four topics I really want to work on and even if I can get up there for 2 – 3 hrs w/out the lunch or afternoon fishing I know it would be beneficial and nice to see everyone.

Any newbie 50/50 on this event words can't explain what a great day it is. In 2011 I received a bunch of equipment from my dad who tried FF for a day and I joined this forum abt 1 week prior to last years event. The guys notified me abt it and it began my journey into the wonderful world of FF, the really good group of guys who run this Instructional Jam (as well as other newbie stuff) and on this forum in general. Really hope I can pull off something and get up there for a few hrs.
