

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : NO!!!! Ya think?

Re: NO!!!! Ya think?

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2013/1/30 10:34:10

URL:

I was gonna say, the gas company's, like People's, have LONG used natural gas as the fuel of choice. In fleet vehicles and such.

Really, any vehicle which has a "home base", and does not travel out of range of that base, often use gas. Bus systems and so forth.

But it was unfeasible for any vehicles which travelled large distances and would need to refuel away from their base. It's not available at enough fueling points, and if it has to be bought on the free market, it wasn't that much cheaper than gasoline anyway. That's changing, as natural gas remains cheap and gasoline is getting more expensive.