Fox - We should be OK with our fishing cameras for the video. They take high def video and are waterproof, so we don't have to worry about the elements. I have a micro tripod that extends to full size too. Guess I'll pick up a spare battery, since that'll be the limiting factor on how much video we can shoot.

I'm sure the "kit" can do a good job with the editing - that's where we'd need the help. A conference call would be cool to get our ducks in a row....
