

Subject: : Fly Fishing Events and Meet-ups

Topic: : valley tomorrow anyone?

Re: valley tomorrow anyone?

Author: : Swattie87

Date: : 2013/1/31 19:52:41

URL:

65ish and falling is the highest I've fished it...definitely "fishable" at that flow...I'm talking about the Nat'l Park section. There's still spots that would be dicey to try to wade through, but there would be plenty of spots that would be safe to cross the stream. It's a streamer deal at that flow IMO, but the fish can be caught. As I mentioned above, 35-50 cfs is ideal for Valley IMO. Problem is it's usually only in that range for a couple of hours max at a time as it rises and falls...gotta time it right.