Did those interested email Harman's?

The original post had asked that interested parties email Harman's. I know of two members, not me, that emailed Harman's but didn't post on this thread because they original said to email Harman's..? They heard nothing.

Is Becker really PAFF's representative? It seems to me he is always causing trouble on the site!..lol Best of luck!

To answer your question...Yes, I emailed Harman's right when they posted. However, this is the decision of Paff to represent the site, not me. A few of us knew about the invite ahead of time and have discussed the possibility of becoming a team. The other in the know can not make the event and gave me his blessing to find another teammate. Once again though, it is not my decision. I have no hard feelings if the site would want to send another team. It is ultimately Dave Kiles decision, he needs to have the best representation.
