

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Anyone hit the salmon river lately?

Re: Anyone hit the salmon river lately?

Author: : JeffK

Date: : 2013/2/1 10:00:02

URL:

I haven't been up for a month, but last time I went it was definately more of a nymph bite than a egg or swinging bite. Misc black stones with subtle flash and Prince nymphs in deep runs seemed to do it. Some on eggs and wets, but the steady action was on nymphs. The hot stone had a black estaz like thorax and black rubber legs with a V-rib abdomen. My fishing buddy went to Princes and did well, but caught some on wets.