

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Light Cured Adhesives

Re: Light Cured Adhesives

Author: : whheff

Date: : 2013/2/2 7:23:44

URL:

Quote:

lv2nymph wrote:

So when you say still tacky when cured are we talking leave a slight finger print when touched, or kinda sticks to the table when you lay it down tacky?

It won't leave a finger print but if you drop it in your trimming bag, it will stick to the thread and feather trimmings. It can be washed off with water to get the fly clean again.

Some products say you can put Sally Hansons' over it.

It is hard to pick one of these products because there are so many offers and ways to apply it. Some are cheap and some are very expensive. The 2 main products are Bug Bond and Clear Cure Goo. If you are going to buy any UV epoxy, I would choose between these two. They have good info on there sights and offered at many places.

My 2 cents. :)

Bill