

---

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Info on Aunt Clara Fork washington county

Info on Aunt Clara Fork washington county

Author: : Pittwash

Date: : 2013/2/4 9:51:06

URL:

Hi guys and gals,

I grew up in burgettstown which is within washington county. I used to trout fish the aunt clara and kings creek religiously each spring using a spinning rod. I havent fished those creeks in 7 or 8 years and now im an avid fly fisherman living in cleveland (browns suck). I spend most of my time steelhead fishing the cleveland area or out west fishing browns in the provo river but i was considering heading down to my old stomping grounds for first day in april. As i remember it used to be a bit crowded and possibly not much room for a person with a fly rod to work. To anyone who has some current knowledge i would love some help. Is heading down there worth my time? Thank you so much to all!!!