It's actually not too bad. They'll ask for your ID and your fishing license. I walk up to the gate stating that I'd like to fish the Letort and usually park at the Mexican restaurant, and walk in from there. Although right now they have been slowly working on the bridge and that gate has been closed. So it's been a while since I've fished there. They do have some regulations of their own. So be sure to ask because I've been told different things (basically no wading and only fishing the lower section). The fishing can be quite good but there's much bigger fish elsewhere...
