I use the 2mm beads on size 16-18 hooks.

For size 20-22 I use a 1.5mm bead and tie them more slender using the next size down wire.

I agree. It was all they had at Bass Pro a few months ago when I was there.

That wire does look kinda thick in my photos. I've corrected the problem with a single strand of crystal flash wrapped over the thread.

I'm going shopping online at Cabelas and Orvis to build up my fly tie stuff. When I go to a fly shop..... I always have to compromise on what I purchase.

I check out all the new ties and the new stuff, and then buy what I want on the internet! I guess I only visit fly shops for sentimental value? Free shipping, and discounts all the time. And I simply love to shop online.
