I've had them for a while, but with a 2.5 year old and a 10 month old I haven't gotten out much lately to use them. They do hold up to a beating.

The design is great for the lefties out there too. There's a threaded nut to take the spool off, and another to expose the hex bearing. Due to the 2nd nut, there is NO HEX CLIP, so no worries about it flying all over the place trying to flip the bearing.
