Here is a statement of their Land Protection Policy, just drafted in December... very topical. If I am reading this correctly, in the Land Conservation section, they state that they do focus on protection through land acquisition. So... if I can make an assumption in this case, it sounds like the private owners sold to WPACO with the understanding through ag easement that they can still work the land but cannot develop it?! It states, "When possible, and for protection purposes, certain rights will be limited by agreement with surface and subsurface owners."
