bitterroot valley is awesome.i would suggest a base somewhere near hamilton where you can access both branches and the main stem without driving too far.many of the tribs in this area offer amazing smaller water fishing as well.some of my favorites are lost horse creek,big creek,lolo creek and dont skip skalkaho creek.(lower end is private,but short drive upstream is worth it).if you have the funds i would suggest booking a day of wade fishing with chuck stranahan early in your trip as you will learn a TON about the area which will lead to more time on the water for the rest of your trip.
