Starvin, yes.... but not like I used to. I used to go a couple nights a week, but these days, once the word gets out, it gets too crowded for my liking. (Not "steelhead crowded" but still too many for someone like me looking to get away from it all.)

That being said, I still do go a few times a year, usually on a weeknight. I've fished from the 528 overpass to places along the northshore, southshore and of course, near the dam along the 422 pull off... but that place really sees its share of people.
