I drove to the Bighorn in eastern MT from Pittsburgh in about 24 hours with Bruno, CSoult, and Andrew (not active on the board). The drive home was from Yellowstone and took about 30 hours. With four guys we were able to drive straight through. The decision to drive saved us the cost of a rental vehicle, and was also cheaper than four airfares. With just two of you, the savings won't be as great and you won't have the stamina to drive straight through.

Have you looked at other airports?
