
Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : The Elitist Fly Fisherman....Reality or Myth?

Re: The Elitist Fly Fisherman....Reality or Myth?

Author: : attackone

Date: : 2013/2/7 13:40:37

URL:

if u actually look at the definition of the word elite it pretty much means the best of the group, so yes there are elite fly fisherman just like there is a elite group in everything...its the way that a person conducts them some that makes them the snobs....i have said it before on other forums, i guess im one of the lucky ones, i have spend alot of time in fly areas and i have never ran into anybody like that...when i first started to fly fish i got alot of help from different people along the stream...i have fish a very long time and most of the time i was using spinning gear and thats when i run into very rude people (not a knock on spin fishing guys)....in the 4 years that i have been hardcore at fly fishing i have met alot of people and made some great friends, in the years before that i dont think i have ever really made a friendship along a stream.....so if u ever see me in my orvis waders, wading jacket and boots, my fishpond vest and my orvis rod with lamson reel dont be afraid to stop and talk with me, im sure i will give you a few flies also.