

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : The Elitist Fly Fisherman....Reality or Myth?

Re: The Elitist Fly Fisherman....Reality or Myth?

Author: : FarmerDave

Date: : 2013/2/7 14:01:17

URL:

Quote:

SBecker wrote:

Quote:

mike_richardson wrote:

I just wish I was as great at the sport, and had the vast knowledge that you do. I mean its a wonder you gained all this knowledge in your 3 years or so of fly fishing.

your smart remarks about people who use other methods of fly fishing, as well as remarks about people who fish for stocked trout, or jabs at members for other reasons are great examples of how you are not an elitist, or how you don't judge other fisherman who do not fish the same way that you do. I stand corrected.

Please send me a signed copy of your book or video when you come out with it. I know that by cruising an internet forum all day, and having a blog are great credentials of how great and how vast your knowledge of fly fishing is.

Correct thank you. :: insert winky face with tounge out::

Not to toot my own horn, but I am one of the nicest guys to fish with and give a lot of time to helping whoever I can. I am sorry you can not take my sense of humor and soft jabbs of busting balls. You should just stick with TAP, possibly your own kind? Snobby enough for you?

I am one of the nicest guys I know, too. 😊