I think it was the same in the Eastern part of the state 50 years ago. There were some amazing bait fishermen (mostly local experts). Everybody - fly or bait - always kept there limit. A lot of the fly fishermen were visiting "dudes" who didn't have a clue. At the FFO nearest me as a kid the big trout would always hold under the banks and the decked out fly guys would wade right over them to fish in the middle of the stream - arrrghhhh. No 10-year local would spook the fish so. Anybody who was a real fishermen would also prefer a cast iron skillet full of "natives" for breakfast over a colorless, tasteless stockie any day.

Things sure have changed.
