Personally, when I see someone spin fishing a FFO section I get really pissed. I'm contemplating vehicle destruction and drowning them! No seriously...I explain to them that it's against the law and why the stream is regulated. I also suggest stockes streams and panther martins with an orange tail... deadly. I'm an all tackle guy. I prefer using a spinning rod when bass fishing. I fly fish when hunting trout. I have friends that think they are the cats ass and that fly fishing is the only way to go. I have no problem fishing a stream that is an ATW that gets stocked over a wild population and seeing a spin fisherman exercising his privilage. My elitist blood boils when I see too many fish being kept or culled, litter, or a law being broken.
