Dub,

I'll second a visit to Blue Mountain Outfitters.

There's all kinds of kayaks and I've tried many of them. Lots of folks like sit-on tops, esp down south. I tend to prefer sit-in type or "decked" yaks. A good and popular type of kayak for what you're thinking of would be the "Pungo" which comes in a fisherman's version or you can get the basic one and add on as you go. Some years ago, there was a whole gang of anglers targeting northeast stripers from Pungos although I think this was a few years ago - there are so many fishing yaks now the Pungo may not have as many fans.
