I've not read every post on this thread, as I am quite tired, but I wanted to throw you some advice I learned from my first Kayak. Buy a sit on top and enjoy your well bought investment. I'm a little on the heavy side (200lbs) and when I flipped my sit in I had trouble getting out of it. Not the type of trouble where I almost drowned, but a few more seconds fooling around getting my legs out of it and I might have been in trouble. God forbid I was in fast moving water when it happened. I was on a lake. I got rid of it the next week and though I still haven't looked into another, my buddy loans me his sit on top from time to time and I absolutely love it.
