Anyone ever try floating a curly sighter with 7x tippet off that to a small weighted nymph? I bet it would work. The curly lands gentle, i doubt fish see it and is ultra sensitive. A size 18 2.0 tungsten bead nymph work work off that rig, and the curly would hold it up.

That worked on the letort well, and the Davidson in NC

I've been wanting to get there but I've been too busy with work.
