If you're just diving in, I'd suggest going used if you're on a budget. Sit on tops are easier to fish from and easier to get in and out of.

The roof rack will depend on what vehicle you have. Even with the average sedan, there are inexpensive options.

If you want to go with a new kayak and keep the costs down, keep an eye out for the Perception Pescador which is basically an older Wilderness Tarpon rebadged and sold in stores like Dicks, Gander Mountain, and West Marine. The Perception Caster is also a great option. These stores often have them on sale and may even offer free shipping to the store if they do not have them in stock.

I've seen them sell for under $500 at times.
