

---

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Wading Boots Question

Re: Wading Boots Question

Author: : stevehalupka

Date: : 2013/2/10 20:12:46

URL:

Quote:

FlyGuyFromPa wrote:

Last spring I wet waded, but I fish the Lucky a lot and REFUSED to let any of that water touch much of my skin, so I used a cheap pair of hip boots to fish a lot of it. I have good waders now, and good wading boots, but I'm searching for a wading shoe I can also use for the longer hikes. The boots I have are kind of heavy, and I was told they can be used for hiking, but I'm not so sure.

read my answer above... the cloudveil 8x's are the best hiking/wading shoe I've ever worn. Very, very light. Once the felt wears, drive some studs down through the bottoms.

I wet wade in sandals sometimes... f it