Are you using the 5wt for trout also? The 5 should be able to handle your bass poppers/medium sized clousers fine. You could go to a 6wt, but if thats the case just use the 8wt for bass. thats what i do. So i have the option to throw a whole range of bass flies and small muskie flies. But the 5wt should be fine. I throw fairly large cone head buggers and slumpbuster/sculpin patterns with my 5wt just fine. Just my .02$. Im sure someone will have a different outlook.
