They are humorous. That's half the fun, you aren't really a fishermen unless you dress to be made fun of.

Why not leather? Before this one I used felts and hated them. Too warm. Water "resistant", but certainly not waterproof and a day in the rain leads to waterlogging. Lost their shape easily. Brim's too floppy so you can't clip lights and so forth to them.

Leather is more expensive and harder to find, but will last forever if taken care of, and can be 100% waterproofed. My one complaint is that I'd like a little smaller brim than mine. It's an outback hat but it borders on cowboy. Indi-Jones style would be ideal IMO. That fictional character knew his hats, lol.
