I tie about 4 different leaders to cover the different situations i most often encounter , carry about 4 spools of tippet material and can adjust the "new" ones by either trimming off some of the butt , or adding tippet or both , been doing it that way for a long time but i gotta admit i haven't tried a furled leader yet but this year i'm going to. Change becomes less welcome the older i get , but trying furled leaders is something on my list.
