well guys I gave it a shot...fished below the dam then took a stroll to the mouth where little meets main chartier. Tied on an olive bugger and a black stonefly after seeing the hatch at cool spring on sunday...nadda...i walked my line a good distance watching my strike indicator as i went and it didnt even flinch...no big deal though...next week i'll try to duck out early if its nice and make the drive to pine creek...thanks again for the info...who knows..maybe ill give little chartier a second chance
