

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Lesson in humility at Little Lehigh

Re: Lesson in humility at Little Lehigh

Author: : Chaz

Date: : 2013/2/14 17:42:51

URL:

No tricos in the winter. But there are certainly small black midges in winter at the LL. lus it has a good hatch of Early Black Stone Flies #18. Usually a twitch of the fly will attract trout when all else fails. A # 20 Al's Rat would probably catch them drifted subsurface.